Lance B. Ferranti, under penalty of perjury, deposes and states the following.

1. My name is Lance B. Ferranti. I reside at 719 S. Westgate Avenue, Los Angeles, CA 90049. I am making this declaration for submission to the Federal Communications Commission.

2. I recall that just prior to the Morse code exam on August 4, 1991, Charles Pascal made the statement to the persons taking the examination that he would send one of the two sentences he had previously sent them. I did not have knowledge of the content of either of those sentences, however.

The above statement, given under penalty of perjury, is true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

The above statement, given under the penalty of perjury, is true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

DECLARATION OF JOHN B. CUMMING

John B. Cumming, under penalty of perjury, deposes and states as follows:

1. My name is John B. Cumming, and I reside at 4816 Patrae Street, Los Angeles, California 90066-6727. I hold a Technician Plus radio amateur license, call sign KC6PTK. I am making this declaration for submission to the Federal Communications Commission to discuss allegations that I have been told have arisen with respect to testimony by Mr. Fred Maia.

2. Before taking the examination for a Technician class license, I held a Novice license which I received effective December 11, 1990. After the Commission introduced the no-code Technician class early in 1991, I took a class from the California Amateur Radio School ("CARS") to prepare for the test to upgrade my license. Mr. Charles P. Pascal was the chief instructor of the school. I was extremely impressed with his ability as a teacher to make complicated subjects easy to understand and remember. Charles Pascal is a natural and gifted teacher.

3. After completing the class, I took and passed the examination. At the time of the examination, I supplied a copy of my Novice license to the Volunteer Examiners. My understanding was that the Novice license and the test result would be submitted to the Commission and that I would then receive the upgraded license. I waited a long time expecting to receive my Technician license. Instead of the license, however, I received a letter from Mr. Maia asking that I provide him with a copy of my Novice license in connection with the upgrade of my license. The bulk of Mr. Maia's letter, however, was a sales pitch attempting to persuade me to buy license preparation materials from Mr. Maia. At this time I had no idea who Mr. Maia was or why he was involved with my license. I became outraged at this attempt to exploit the licensing process for commercial gain.

4. In response to Mr. Maia's letter, I sent him a copy of the Novice license, but I attached a short note complaining that, contrary to what I had been led to believe, amateur radio seemed to be run solely to enrich entrepreneurs like Mr. Maia and the operators of the Radio Schools like CARS and Gordon West (whose sales materials started coming to me as soon as I received my Novice designation; I assume because the Commission made its mailing lists available to Mr. West). I made no specific complaint about Sandra Crane, Mr. Pascal, or CARS; my concerns were with the venality of what I had always thought was an altruistic, community-oriented amateur radio service. My outrage was with Mr. Maia's commercial exploitation of a government regulated licensing process, and my intent was to make that clear to him.

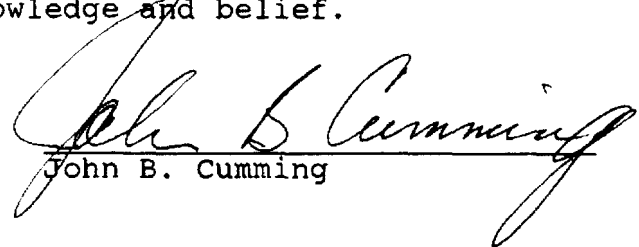

5. After receiving my note, Mr. Maia called me. He explained that he was a Volunteer Coordinator and that Volunteer Coordinators were intermediaries in the licensing process. He was quite focused on Sandra Crane. He volunteered gratuitously that he had information on Sandra Crane, the tone being that he had negative reports about her conduct and that he was seeking to discipline her. Since my concern was with why Mr. Maia was involved in the licensing process (apparently only to exploit it for his personal financial gain), I don't know why he shared with me hearsay criticism that he had of Sandra Crane.

6. Both Charles Pascal and Sandra Crane have been supportive of my entry into amateur radio and I have no criticism of their conduct in any regard. At all times they have conducted themselves in a manner above reproach. They have consistently shown a respect for all laws and regulations relating to the amateur radio examination process and to the conduct of licensees on the air. Beyond respecting the mere letter of the law, they have supported the spirit of amateur radio to serve the community as a communication resource and to advance experimental applications of radio technology.

The foregoing statement, given under penalty of perjury is true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.
